FIRST KOMMERS SUCCESS.

Fifty Men Present. Mr. Rand Outlines Plans for Future.

Exactly fifty men attended the Kommers Saturday evening and had a most enjoyable time. Gov. Curtis Guild was expected to be present, but was prevented by his official duties. H. V. O. Coes, '06, of the House Committee, acted as toastmaster.

The meal served was an exellent one, and every man had all he wanted. Mr. Rand said that it was the intention to give as good a meal as it was possible to give, whether or not the Union lost or made money.

Mr. Rand told a few excellent stories, and in outlining the plans for future Kommers announced that he hoped to secure the following men to talk on various evenings: Pres. Burrage, of the Eliot National Bank, on "Banking"; Lyman Underwood, who will give an illustrated lecture on "Life in the Maine Woods"; Gen. Bancroft, of the Boston Elevated Co., on "The Elevated System", illustrated; Samuel Elder, the best after-dinner speaker in New England; Maj. C. S. Proctor; and, of course, Gov. Guild. Mr. Rand has other prominent men in view, whose talks will make up a set of interesting Kommers.

HARVARD MEN ENTERTAINED.

The Architectural Society held a smoker at the Union Friday evening. In response to an invitation from the Society, some thirty-five or forty men of the Architectural Department, and of the "Pen and Brush Club" of Harvard attended. Quite a number of Technology graduates also were present.

Prof. D. Despradelle, the speaker of the evening, described the masterly and artistic way in which Paris has been laid out as a result of collaboration between architects, engineers, sculptors, and painters. Paris is the most beautiful and artistic city in the world. Only recently have Americans begun to beautify their cities, and a great field of useful work is open to the future architect.

Whatever may be the feeling between the average Harvard and the average Tech man, it must be said that nothing but a feeling of the best of good fellowship exists between the students of the Architectural Departments of the two schools. This is the spirit which makes the profession of Architecture the cleanest profession in the land. Harvard songs and Tech songs, Harvard cheers and Tech cheers, together with popular songs and student stunts vied with each other for first place. All around, the meeting was the best example of a display of friendly feeling ever seen between students of these two great rival schools and should result in much good.

HARVARD WINS 12 BOUTS.

Columbia Second with 8, Tech Last with 7.

Harvard won the triangular fencing meet from Columbia and Tech Friday evening at the gym. The score was Harvard 12, Columbia 8, Technology 7. Bowman, Harvard, and J. Lage, Tech, were the stars of the evening, each winning five out of their six bouts. Technology's comparatively poor showing was a great surprise to everyone.

The big bout of the evening was between Jorge Lage of Technology and W. L. Bowman of Harvard. Lage had not lost a bout for two years up to last evening, while Bowman is the champion of New England and a member of the B. A. A. team. The bout was close, but the judges, without any hesitation, declared Lage winner.

Columbia made an excellent showing, and lost only because the Harvard men were the better fencers. The bout between Frederico Lage of Columbia and Jorge Lage of Tech, brothers, was an interesting one, but the Tech man easily won.

Captain Tyng of Harvard won four of his bouts, although troubled all evening with a cramp in his left leg. MacLeod won three bouts and helped to boost up the Harvard score.

HOCKEY CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS.

At a meeting of the Hockey Association, held in 11 Rogers Saturday, at 1 P.M., Manager Sharp, '07, spoke about having a picture of the team in Technique '07 and quoted prices. It was voted to have a picture placed in Technique provided the Association did not have to pay for the cut. The election of officers was then held, and resulted in the election of G. S. Gould, '07, captain, and W. J. Kelly, '09, manager, for next year.

CHICAGO CLUB DINES.

The Chicago Club held its eleventh annual dinner at the Marlbave Hotel Friday evening. The dinner was an overwhelming success, being well attended, and the old Chicago spirit of sociability being pleasingly evident.

The most interesting feature of the dinner was the toasts Retiring-Pres. Mann,'06, and Pres-elect Bragdon, '07, plunged the assembly into a whirlpool of good spirits with their toasts.

After dinner the ordinary business of the club was conducted. It was decided that resolutions of regret be drawn up in result of the fact that the Institute is soon to lose Dr. Pritchett as its president, the resolutions to appear in THE TECH.

SHOW LOSES MANAGER.

Mr. F. S. Hamilton, Assistant Business Manager of the Show, has been seriously ill for some time. He has become so far behind in his studies that he will not return to the Institute until next Fall. It has therefore been necessary for him to resign from his office in the Show, and his place has been taken by J. D. Whittemore,'07, former Assistant Business Manager.

Reference books contain everything except the one thing you want to know.

Unprecedented.

It becomes a matter of some concern to the students of the Institute and especially to the members of the Class of 1906, when the Editors of Technique are obliged to announce that the Senior Class will probably have no Class History this year. The time limit for handing in these histories expired long ago and every class but 1906 was represented by several histories. It seems strange that in such a matter as this the Senior Class, of all classes that one which is supposed by virtue of its seniority to have the traditions of the Institute nearest to heart, should have acted so indifferently.

Men excuse themselves on account of "work," but how is it that all preceding classes have been able to do their share? There is but one inference that can be drawn from such action by the Seniors. As no one else seems to take any interest in the matter it devolves upon the class officers to attend to this immediately and to see that the Class of 1906, the Senior Class, shall not be disgraced.

REVIEW HAS FINE ISSUE.

The January issue of the Technology Review has just been placed in the library. This issue has to do strictly with Institute affairs and practically no space is devoted to general interests.

The appreciation of President Pritchett's administration shows the marked advances made in the material wealth of the Institute, and enumerates the special efforts socially and morally to benefit the students during the past five years.

In a twenty-page article by Prof. John Bigelow, Jr., the usefulness of continental languages to the Tech men in particular and to the general engineer is convincingly shown, quite apart from the value of such subjects as culture studies.

Professor Tyler contributes an article on the representation of the alumni on the Corporation, inspired doubtless by the recent active part the alumni have taken in the discussion of Tech current events.

The remainder of the number is filled with alumni and class notes of interest to the graduates and classes. The full report of the recent meeting of the Alumni Association is published and several pages of Institute notes tell of affairs at Tech.

SOPHOMORES HOLD MEETING.

The Sophomore Class held a meeting last Friday, at one o'clock, to consider the election of the Technique '08 Electoral Committee. Vice-President Heath presided for the first time. M. A. Coe, '06, Editor-in-Chief of Technique '06, spoke concerning the Electoral Committee. He emphasized, especially, the need of electing the best men for this Board, citing for an example the importance of the Treasurer, who is responsible for the financial end of Technique, which amounts to about $4,000, most of which comes from the advertisements. The Electoral Committee consists of twenty-five men, chosen by ballot from a list of all members of class in good standing. This committee elects the Technique Board.

Secretary Webb read the resignation of Pres. Weinz, which was accepted with regrets. He also spoke about Sophomore night at the Kommers, to be held March 24. Treas. Adams stated that the class had a small deficit. Heilman spoke upon baseball and moved an assessment of 50 cents per man, the motion being passed. Vice-Pres. Heath chose the following men to collect the money in their courses: Course I, Adams; II, Heilman; III, A. Ellis; IV, Williams; V and X, Soule; VI, Witmer; VII, VIII, IX, Adams; XI, XII, XIII, Bounetheau.

AT THE THEATRES.

Tremont Theatre.

It was a foregone conclusion that Miss Paula Edwardes would in "Princess Beggar" add another huge success to her credit. Miss Edwardes not only finds a most congenial role as the woodcutter's sprightly daughter, but is afforded special opportunity for the display of cleverness which has always characterized her work. Altogether Miss Edwardes' performance proved as unconventional as it was charming throughout, and readily made plain her title to exceptional comic opera high ability. Miss Edwardes' engagement is for two weeks.

Majestic Theatre.

One of the most pronounced successes that has been scored in Boston by any play during recent years has been won at the Majestic Theatre by Charles Frohman's magnificently picturesque and deeply moving production of "Mizpah." This beautiful retelling in footlight fashion of the immortal Scriptural love romance of Queen Esther and King Ahasuerus by that celebrated poetess, Ella Wheeler Wilcox, in collaboration with Luscombe Searelle, has been emphatically praised by the Boston press in enthusiastic reviews that prove the exceptional scenic beauty and dramatic appeal of this splendid work. The unanimous verdict is that it is a triumphant Biblical drama.

Castle Square Theatre.

"The Secret of Polichinelle" is to have its first stock company performance in Boston next week. Although this play is of French origin, it is, in its American version, as clean and as wholesome as if it had originated among the Puritanical hills of New England. Its success both in Paris and in this country, where it made a successful tour two seasons ago under the management of James K. Hackett, brought it into deserved prominence, and its appearance at the Castle Square Theatre this week is therefore certain to arouse widespread enthusiasm.
